

DANGER OF BRITISH-ITALIAN CONFLICT GROWS

FOUR KILLED IN QUARREL; $30,000 BACK OF DEATHS

Penna. Farmer Slew His Brother, Two Uncles and Then Himself

Newark, N. J., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The police concluded today that Charles Russell Geary, 42, a Tobyhanna, Pa., farmer, killed his brother and two uncles and ended his own life in a fight over division of a $30,000 estate.

The bodies of the four were found in the apartment of Orlando Le Van, 60, an employee of the Pennsylvania railroad, one of the victims of the shooting.

The others who died were Orlando's brother, Benjamin, 55, retired foreman in the Newark department of public works, and John S. Geary, 43, who had lived with the Le Vans since boyhood.

Orlando's wife, Catherine, died a month ago on a visit to Easton, Pa. She and the Geary brothers' mother were sisters. Orlando's wife held with him joint accounts in three Newark savings banks and stock in a building and loan association, totalling in all about $30,000.

Argued Over Money.

The police believe Charles Geary, who came to Newark early last night argued with Orlando over sharing the money.

Early today a man telephoned police headquarters. Patrolman Patrick McNamara answered.

"Send police in a hurry to 938 South 20th street."

"What's the matter?" asked the startled McNamara.

"There are three murders and a suicide," replied the man on the phone.

"What do you mean," asked the policeman.

"I just killed three people."

The caller then hung up.

Find Four Bodies.

Two minutes later radio police took down the door of the second floor apartment and found the bodies of four men, three of them sprawled in the kitchen and the fourth lying on a divan in the sun parlor. The lights were out, the doors were locked.

The body of John S. Geary, 42, brother of Charles, was lying near a window. A few feet away lay Orlando Le Van, 60. Near a door leading to the living room was Orlando's brother, Benjamin, 55.

Charles Geary was stretched out on a couch in the sun parlor, a sawed off shotgun at his feet. He had been shot at close range through the heart. In his hip pocket police found a loaded .38 caliber revolver.

WHEAT FUTURES ADVANCE TODAY

Talk of Impending War in Africa Helps Upward Movements

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—World wheat prices soared higher today, erasing yesterday's setbacks, as traders displayed more concern over gossip of an impending East African war and reports of Argentina crop damage.

Wheat futures in Chicago were generally 3 cents higher shortly after the opening. May wheat jumped to 1.02 3/4, a new high for the season and the highest price for any future here since last December.

Wheat futures closed 2 1/2-3/4 above yesterday's finish. The closing quotations were about a cent below the day's highs.

The Liverpool market was about 3 cents higher and Winnipeg wheat shot up the 3-cent limit, the May delivery coming within 1-4 cent of the dollar mark.

Rotterdam 1 1/2-2 cents higher. The Buenos Aires market closed 1 cent off yesterday, but soared up 4 1/2 cents at the opening today.

Traders paid close attention to warlike preparations in connection with the Italo-Ethiopian situation and crop reports from the drought-stricken wheatlands of Argentina were increasingly bullish.

On the extreme upturn Minneapolis futures were 3 1/4-3/8 cents higher while Kansas City was 3 1/2 cents up.

Roosevelt designated Eccles to succeed himself last night. Six other members of the new board are to be named later.

BIG BREACH IN LONG'S MACHINE REVEALED TODAY

Gov. Allen Ignored by Long Cohorts in Announcing Desires

New Orleans, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The political machine left by the late Senator Huey P. Long was split wide open today by announcements of Lieutenant Governor James A. Noe for governor and Wade P. Martin, public service commissioner, for the United States Senate in the January primary.

The announcement dropped like bomb-shells in the ranks over the state and in the statehouse. Governor O. K. Allen, who had said the state ticket would be chosen at a caucus to be called by him, refused to believe they were genuine announcements.

The governor closeted himself in his office with a group of his associates and discussed the announcements feverishly. He said he could not conceive of Noe and Martin taking such steps without his sanction.

Later Noe and Martin joined the governor's conference. They had driven from New Orleans to Baton Rouge this morning.

Rival Slick in Bed.

Allen J. Ellender, confined to his bed at Houma with a cold, said he had not heard of the announcement but had nothing to say. Ellender had been prominently mentioned as a gubernatorial candidate and until Noe made his statement he was regarded as standing about equally as strong in the organization.

Martin had been virtually selected to run for the unexpired term of the late Senator Long but the statements accompanying his announcement indicated he would offer for the regular six year term beginning in January, 1937.

The announcements came after an all night conference in a hotel room, attended by Judge John B. Fournet, of the state supreme court, the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, "Share-Our-Wealth" organizer, Martin, Noe and others.

Run On Long Platform.

Both Noe and Martin announced they would run on the Long program, including the "Share-Our-Wealth" plan. Noe named three planks on a platform, "the plan of progress of Huey P. Long, the 'Share-Our-Wealth' platform, and honest business administration of the affairs of the state."

The announcements placed Governor Allen on the spot. Noe claimed he had Allen's endorsement and Smith said in a supplemental statement that "upon hearing an expression on the part of our governor that these men were preferable to him, I readily assured them of my endorsement."

But Allen expressed complete surprise at the announcements. Last night Long leaders had said only Allen was authorized to make announcements.

Statesman Dead

Former French ambassador to Washington and Berlin, one of France's "elder statesmen," who died in Vevey, Switzerland, today at the age of 90 years. When French history of the latter part of the 19th century and the early part of the 20th is written Cambon, if given his due, will be recorded as one of the really great men of that country because during his life he often was characterized as one of the most able, tactful and successful ambassadors in the history of France. In public life for more than 40 years, he figured conspicuously in international affairs of great import involving his country and yet he performed his service in such a modest way that his career appeared to be less brilliant than many others whose roles were of lesser importance.

Mooney's "Social Revolution" Talk is Stricken Today

San Francisco, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Assertions of Thomas J. Mooney yesterday that he believed in "social revolution" and his views on the workers of the world were stricken from the record of his habeas corpus hearing before Federal Judge A. E. Shaw today on the motion of Assistant Attorney General William Cleary.

The motion of the state came as a surprise at the opening of the second day of the internationally known prisoner's hearing.

Yesterday Cleary had obtained admission from the convicted bomber of the 1916 San Francisco Preparedness Day parade that he belonged to a minority faction of the International Molders Union, which believed the formation of an industrial union was the quickest method of getting "workers free from exploitation at all times."

Mooney also testified that industrial unions were the object of the present national administration and the NRA. The prisoner said he believed in "social revolution—that all wealth should be socialized for all the people of the world."

When asked how this revolution was to take effect he answered that "the method mattered little"—although it is not necessary to accomplish it by force or violence.

ITALY EXPECTED TO REJECT PLAN TO END DISPUTE

Situation at Geneva is Becoming More Hopeless With Passing Days

Geneva, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Salvador de Madariaga of Spain, chairman of the League of Nations' Italo-Ethiopian committee, told that body today he believed Ethiopia would accept the committee's plan for a compromise with Italy—but he did not know what Italy might do.

He told his committee members, representing Great Britain, France, Poland and Turkey, that all he was able to say about Italy was that Baron Pompeo Aloisi, that nation's chief delegate, had held many long distance telephone conversations with Premier Mussolini since de Madariaga had given him the plan.

Yesterday, immediately following the receipt of the league plan, an Italian delegate said it was "absolutely unacceptable as a basis of negotiation."

Although previously Aloisi had been expected to go to Rome for a conference with Il Duce, he remained in Geneva, and Italian sources said this indicated that Mussolini saw no need for a conference, a fact cited as a further substantiation of Italy's objection to the league proposal.

Some delegations believed Il Duce might regard economic sanctions as virtual acts of war and that a naval blockade probably would follow any proclamation of a boycott.

With the league five-power committee's proposal for collective assistance for Ethiopia in the hands of Italy, there were no indications, however, that the talk of possible future sanctions had become generalized.

Conciliation Crisis.

Sanctions can be discussed officially only by the league council, when and if Italy flouts league recommendations adopted unanimously by the council, and resorts to an unprovoked war. The crisis was still in the conciliation stage.

If Mussolini rejects outright the suggestions made by the committee of five, the council must decide whether to proceed under article XV of the league covenant.

A complete official report on the conflict must then be made to the council together with a series of specific recommendations for settlement.

The committee would have even the right to suggest measures of restraint against any nation which rejected its recommendations.

Italy vs. Great Britain.

Momentarily, the situation was considered in league circles to be primarily one between Italy and Great Britain, with Britain taking such obvious naval precautions that delegates tended to regard the crisis more and more as developing Anglo-Italian tension.

Ethiopia's acceptance of the peace proposals was considered virtually certain by league circles, although Emperor Haile Selassie also had the theoretical right to reject the program.

The project was understood generally to consist of two parts, the first confined to general considerations and saving the particular object was to find a basis for conciliation, the second outlining work in assistance for Ethiopia.

The report provided for appointment of a series of foreign advisers to act as heads of various Ethiopian departments, including those of police, finance, communications and general administration.

To Make Concessions.

The document was understood in league quarters to set forth that France and Britain were prepared, in the interests of settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian controversy, to make certain territorial concessions to the East African empire.

It was understood among league leaders, however, that any concessions would be made only if Italy accepted the league plan.

DIXON COUPLE'S JOURNEY ENDED BY AUTO CRASH

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Plein, 512 Galena avenue, were painfully cut and bruised in an automobile accident near Lincoln, Ill., yesterday afternoon as they were en route from Dixon to Springfield, where they planned to visit their daughter Miss Rosella Plein. Both are in St. Clara's hospital at Lincoln. Mrs. Plein suffering from minor cuts and bruises and her husband from severe lacerations about the head and face and bruises about the body. Both were reported to be resting comfortably today.

The accident occurred on U. S. route 66 about one-half mile north of Krueger's station. Sparks from a train early yesterday, set fire to grass and weeds along the right-of-way according to reports from Bloomington today, and smoke from the grass fire blinded Mr. Plein and his car crashed into the rear of another machine driven by H. F. Oelker of Chicago. Both machines were considerably damaged. The occupants of the Chicago car suffered only slight injuries.

Later yesterday afternoon John McGrath of Ottawa sustained severe chest injuries at the same location when, blinded by smoke from the burning grass, his car crashed into another machine driven by Frank Kronz of Lincoln. McGrath was also removed to the St. Clara's hospital at Lincoln.

BRITISH LABOR PARTY IS SPLIT

Divided Over Support of Sanctions Being Imposed on Italy

London, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The national executive committee of the Labor party issued a statement just before the close of its emergency session today regretfully accepting the resignation from that body of Sir Richard Stafford Cripps.

Sir Richard, generally regarded as one of the party's leading prospects for prime minister in the event of a Labor election victory, resigned in disagreement with the party policy of supporting military sanctions to prevent an Italo-Ethiopian war.

Lord Ponsonby resigned the party leadership in the House of Lords yesterday for the same reason, and George Lansbury, Labor leader in the House of Commons, has offered to surrender his post.

Jack Clynnes, who lost the party's leadership by only three votes to Ramsay MacDonald prior to the latter's first term as Prime Minister, walked out of today's meeting.

Opinions Varied.

He was one of several members of the executive who quit the session when they found themselves at variance with the joint resolution with the Trades Union Congress to give support to sanctions to enforce the League of Nations covenant. Lansbury declined to make a statement.

In view of a campaign launched by the Socialist League against Britain's being drawn into any "imperialist war," informed political quarters were dubious as to whether the time had yet arrived for Lansbury and Lord Ponsonby to be replaced by younger men.

Eventual replacement of Lansbury by some likely candidate for the post of Prime Minister, if and when a Labor government is likely to return to power, was predicted freely in the ranks of the party.

MEDITERRANEAN POWDER KEG OF EASTERN WORLD

Any Untoward Incident May Furnish Tinder to Touch It Off

London, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Foreign military observers said tonight a situation was rapidly developing in the Mediterranean where an untoward incident might furnish the tinder for touching off a powder keg spreading far beyond the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

These observers said they saw a grim and purposeful meaning in the speedy and steady mobilization by Great Britain and Italy of their best ships, airplanes, and troops along the danger point within the Mediterranean and its two entrances at Suez and Gibraltar.

Meanwhile, both governments maintained official silence regarding the significance of their actions as officials of both countries anxiously studied developments.

For Any Eventuality.

An authoritative source asserted today that the British air ministry was building up the royal air forces as strategic Mediterranean stations for any eventuality which might arise from the present dispute.

At the same time, the British Admiralty list showed that the Admiralty, having virtually depleted its home fleet to reinforce naval stations in the Mediterranean, now is calling on its American West Indies fleet for additional support.

In contrast with these naval maneuvers, which now have been made more or less public, the heavy air reinforcements—likewise officially characterized as precautionary—will be kept secret.

CITIZENS WARNED.

London, Sept. 19.—(AP)—An official defense proclamation at Gibraltar, advising the public to lay in a supply of candles for "certain emergencies," was reported today by Reuters (British news agency).

The proclamation, said Reuters, warned the public to screen its candle lighting, stating: "in the event of certain emergencies it may prove necessary to extinguish all lights throughout Gibraltar."

made more or less public, the heavy air reinforcements—likewise officially characterized as precautionary—will be kept secret.

A concentration of fighting, bombing, and observation planes, hinted as having taken place in the vicinity of the Suez Canal, Egypt, Gibraltar, and the Sudan, is expected to be referred to in general terms in a forthcoming announcement by the air ministry. This announcement, however, is not expected to give specific details.

Uncertain Elements.

British strategists explained the element of uncertainty is most important in the present situation and said there was no disposition to weaken the British position by premature disclosures.

The foreign office, meanwhile, kept in close contact with Geneva, awaiting official indication as to whether Premier Mussolini would regard the league compromise plan. There was no immediate indication of optimism in Geneva, although in some quarters a faint hope that the situation would shortly ease was expressed.

In an interview by G. Ward Price in the London Daily Mail, Mussolini was quoted as saying: "It looks as if the committee of the League of Nations thinks I am a collector of deserts." The reference came as an indication of Mussolini's rejection of the committee report which was understood to include an offer to Italy of the Ethiopian provinces of Danakil and Ogaden.

"No Ethiopian Nation"

"It would be far better if the committee had addressed itself to the central fact of the Ethiopian situation which is that there is no such thing as an Ethiopian nation. 'What makes up the nation called Ethiopia is a dominant race of Amharas ruling over the tribes which they have conquered and reduced to slavery, almost exterminating them in the process.'"

"These depressed subject races of Ethiopia would be far better off under Italian rule while the true Ethiopian—country of Amharas—could be helped toward a decent level of civilization by means of a regime similar to that which first existed in Iraq and still is applied in Morocco."

Wall Street

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The stock market went into a modest slump today, which some brokers thought was partly due to uneasiness over the Italian-Ethiopian situation.

Many shares lost $1 to $2 and a few broke $4 to $6. Opinion differed widely in Wall Street, however, as to the importance of war talk in contributing to the selling. A number of important brokerage circles felt that the market had become overbought, and was due to a reaction. Others pointed out that some of the recent buying securities had been attributed to prospects of large purchases of materials to be used for war purposes.

Allied Chemical, a recent strong spot, dropped more than $6 to below $167, American Can more than $4 to under $140, and Pullman reflecting its dividend cut, about $4 around $34. Losses of $1 to $2 a share were registered by American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, General Motors, Sears and others. Closing quotations:

LOW PUNCH IS MAXIE'S ONLY VICTORY HOPEMust Paralyze Joe With Low One in First Round

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Here's a tip for Max Baer on how he can whip Joe Louis at the Yankee Stadium Tuesday night and it comes from no other than John Roxborough, manager of the Detroit Bomber.

"The only chance Baer has to beat Joe is to slip over a low left-handed punch in the first round, paralyze Louis and then nail him with a right," declared Roxborough.

"Understand I am not saying that Max will do that," added Joe's manager, "but if he tosses one low blow, it will be just too bad. We will start throwing them too. We may lose the round but I am sure we can afford to lose more than Baer."

James J. Braddock, who lifted the heavyweight crown from Baer in June, agrees with Roxborough in that Max will be in for the fight of his life next week.

Speculator, N. Y., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Max Baer is a little "Edgy" today, a little argumentative.

If you take those signs as indications of perfect physical condition, which fight handlers do, then the erratic Californian is ready to duel Joe Louis in the Yankee Stadium Tuesday night.

For instance, a reporter from a New York newspaper whose sports editor favors the other fellow, got a little close to the big curly head. Baer casually dropped a short right hand punch on the writer's shoulder.

"Take that back to your editor," he growled.

Now the reporter can't write on a typewriter. He has to dictate his stories.

Baer is getting mean in his training ring. Down so fine at 211 pounds that some of the visiting trainers and experts crowding his camp think he is overdoing it. Max is evening up for past indignities.

He smashed George Turner of Tulsa around yesterday, after the 19-year-old 190-pounder had made a punching bag of him for a couple of days. He knocked down Abe Feldman, a real heavyweight, for the first time in Feldman's busy career.

It was added that reservations are not yet being taken, so no checks are to be sent at present. Only the covers should be mailed for registration.

Took Fatal Plunge Running Away from Accident He Caused

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—James Hunt of suburban DesPlaines was injured fatally today when he plunged to the bottom of an 85-foot quarry while running away from his stalled automobile after it crashed into three other cars. Hunt died several hours later in Hinsdale sanitarium.

The only other person injured was Hunt's companion, identified by the officers as Miss Ernestine Burnin, 27, of Escanaba, Mich. She was seriously cut and bruised.

Witnesses said Hunt's car crashed into the rear of an automobile driven by Joseph Stimac, 47, La Grange, Ill., then swerved into an approaching automobile before coming into another car driven by Elmer Reiser of Naperville, Ill. Hunt then leaped from his car and ran, apparently failing to observe the pit.

Airman Who Killed
Passenger to Learn
Outcome of Inquest

Toronto, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Two Detroit airmen who fought a death battle in mid-air with Len Koencke of the Brooklyn Dodgers looked hopefully today to an inquest to bring them freedom on bail and later exoneration.

The results of a three-day investigation into the death of the big league baseball player for which William Joseph Mulgoney and Irwin Davis are charged with manslaughter, will be told at the coroner's inquest tonight.

Prof. Joslyn Rogers of the University of Toronto, who has conducted scientific experiments since the post-mortem, was expected to report his findings. It was indicated the would deal with Koencke's mental state or reactions.

Koencke's body was released last night for burial after identification by his father and brother who arrived from Adams, Wis.

In his car, parked on the river bank, they found a note in which the youth said: "Dear Pa and Ma: I feel that I have been a big expense to you and I am leaving. Don't have the police look for me." His father, John, said he knew no reason why Charles should have been despondent.

The Secret of Beautiful Slender Feet

If you want to have, to keep your youthful, slender feet, do one thing . . . stimulate and restore the normal blood circulation of youth to the nerves and ligaments of your feet this easy way:

If you have thought that Style breeds cramped muscles, swelling and tired feet, you may forget it.

If you have been told that a "practical-looking" or "freak" shoe cures foot troubles, you may forget that, too.

Style does not injure feet; "freak" shoes do not always help the cause of foot fatigue.

Youthful slenderness is lost because of just one thing . . . faulty circulation of blood through the nerves, tissues and muscles . . . cramping, swelling and ageing then begins.

A NEW WONDER SHOE

Now a brilliant scientist has put cunningly concealed air-cushions in style shoes . . . cushions that relieve nerves and muscles of all pressure . . . cushions that flex with every step you take, thus gently massaging your feet . . . sending rich, red blood through nerves and tissues to take away tiredness, swelling and thickening of ligaments.

You know what a "facial" massage does to stimulate sallow complexion and revive youthful skin. Now visit our store and learn how Bellaire's hidden air cushions help beauty and slenderize your feet in much the same way . . . by stimulating normal circulation and restoring youthful slenderness and buoyancy to your feet.

PRAYER FOR PEACE.

By Joseph Fort Newton.

"THE prayer of Socrates which you quoted," writes a minister, "is beautiful and wise, because of what it asks, but also because he asked nothing for himself which he did not ask for his friend."

"But there is another prayer, also by an old Greek, which might have been written for our day. The name of the author I have never been able to find, but I wish it might be written in our hearts—

"From the murmur and subtlety of suspicion with which we vex one another, give us rest. Make a new beginning, and mingle again the kindred of the nations in the alchemy of love, and with some finer essence of forbearance and forgiveness temper our mind."

"This deep and searching prayer, so worthy of the spirit of One who was greater than the Greeks, goes down to the roots of all our conflicts and asks for a better mind, and a gentler mood of spirit."

"If this prayer could be answered, it would save us from most of the ills which afflict the world, where fear, suspicion and hatred make human life hideous, and human society a dark jungle."

Indeed, yes. As Maeterlinck said the other day, unless our age of material development and physical science is followed by a "spiritual epoch," as he called it, there is little hope of peace.

The late Charles Steinmetz, wizard of electricity, held the same view, not merely as a pious wish, but as a practical hope. He believed that man would yet learn how to use the finer forces of his being, which he now fears or distrusts, and save himself from disaster.

But as was said of old, "that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual." The higher life must grow up slowly through the lower, like a flower.

It takes time, patience, and an intrepid faith to wait, while we work for a better mind and a clearer vision, but it is not in vain.

The Epworth League Cabinet of the Methodist church met at the home of Miss Fern Grimes last Tuesday night.

The business meeting took up the greater part of the meeting and much was decided.

Dixon D. A. R. Chapter Observes Constitution Day in Amboy

The Dixon Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution observed Constitution Day Sept. 17 at Prairie Repose Cemetery near Amboy by unveiling the marker erected by the Chapter at the grave of Mrs. Elizabeth Swigert Eckert, who was a "Real Daughter," and a member of Dixon Chapter.

The program was opened by singing two verses of "America," and a prayer by the chaplain and the reading of George Washington's "Prayer on the Constitution," which is so sacred to every loyal American citizen.

The President General's Message on the Constitution written by Mrs. Wm. A. Becker was read by the Historian, and was followed by all repeating the "American's Creed" by William Tyler Page.

Miss Rosalie Eckert, a daughter and a member of Dixon Chapter and her sister, Mrs. Nellie Patterson, unveiled the marker and Mrs. Eckert in a few well-chosen words in behalf of her family and herself thanked the chapter for the beautiful marker that they had so lovingly placed on her mother's grave. The exercises closed by all singing the last verse of "America."

Dixon chapter has been very fortunate in having had two "Real Daughters," Mrs. Delilah D. Cudington and Mrs. Elizabeth Swigert Eckhart.

St. James Supper Delightful Success

The fried chicken supper at St. James church last evening sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society was a most successful and enjoyable affair. The ladies of St. James are famous cooks. The tables were attractive with decorations of fall flowers.

The number attending the supper was estimated at about 175. A neat sum was added to the church funds.

AN ACT OF TRUST
In a formal ceremony the two surviving members of the Board of Trade post of the Grand Army of the Republic in Chicago turned over its colors in trust to the Board of Trade post of the American Legion.

Either formally or informally this is going on in all parts of the country.
The American Legion trust is accompanied by a noble inheritance. If it dutifully regards its trust, it will wage a relentless campaign in behalf of the constitution of the United States. The Grand Army of the Republic had all the invitations to socialism that the present generation had and it spurned them as un-American, which they are.

The Grand Army of the Republic was made up of individuals subject to all the errors of the human race but as a body the Grand Army was sound and courageous and American. It was not until the Grand Army passed off the scene that this socialistic twaddle of the brain trust took root.

FASTER, STILL FASTER
After sitting by meekly for years and watching other forms of transportation take their passengers away from them, the railroads at last seem to be devoting their best brains and money to the job of fighting back.

The latest move comes from the New York Central and Pennsylvania roads, which announce that their crack
New York-Chicago trains will make the run in 16½ hours, beginning Sept. 29.

Until comparatively recently, that trip was a 20-hour run. With the airplanes making the trip in something like a fifth of that time, the crack trains did not look quite so speedy.

On the new basis, they will be much better able to compete with planes; and the reduction is simply one more indication of the new energy and ingenuity which the railroads are at last injecting into the competition.

ILLINOIS TRAFFIC LAWS

The Illinois legislature appears to be incapable of dealing sensibly with the traffic problem. It makes a thrill here and jab there. In the last session it did some overhauling. Yet over a period of a dozen years it has not had the courage to pass a law that will enable officials to withdraw licenses from persons who endanger the lives of all who come near them.

In Massachusetts the registrar of motor vehicles gives notice that whenever the police report that a car has been seen driving at a rate more than sixty miles an hour, he will withdraw that driver's license. He proceeds on the theory that an automobile traveling at that rate can not be under the degree of control that it should be, in relation to all other traffic.

"There isn't much use in taking speeders to court because they only get small fines or have their cases placed on file," said the registrar.

How well we are aware of that fact. We do not mean that the magistrates and judges are at fault. We mean that they are deprived of the most efficient means of dealing with traffic violators, which is to take them out of traffic.

The penalty for driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor is a jail sentence, or a heavy fine, or both. We are not familiar with all the details of the penalties. What shall a judge do when the penalty is laid mainly upon the family of the offender? That usually is the case. When the man goes to jail, his family goes on relief. Yet the judge is unable to apply the most sensible penalty and the one that naturally occurs to the average person as the one that should be imposed—the withdrawal of permission to drive a motor vehicle.

Some months ago the New Dealers laughed off the idea of preservation of the constitution becoming a political issue. It looks as though they were taking the matter more seriously in Iowa. There the democratic county committee in Des Moines arranged a Constitution day celebration of its own.

Relationships among people in a community for the purpose of promoting their individual welfare and their community interests . . . are in many respects no more important than proper international relationships.—

beautiful should last only for a short time?—Belgian Premier van Zeeland, referring to death of Queen Astrid.

I consider democratic royalty as the natural regime pending plebiscite.—Premier Panayoti Tsaldaris of Greece.

I consider my father on two planes. One is the man litical enemy.—Nancy Bedford-Jones, who denounced her father's article on Communism in colleges.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JAMES
(A Great Christian Leader)

Text: James 1:1-17.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Sept. 22.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Two of the 12 apostles were named James—James the son of Zebedee and James the son of Alpheus. The latter is supposed to be the James referred to in Matthew 13:55 and tradition makes him the cousin or the half-brother of Jesus.

It was this James who presided over the mother church at Jerusalem. He was a man apparently distinguished by his uprightness of character and by his practical good sense and judgment in the problems and affairs of the early church. Out of this reputation he was called "James the Just."

Despite the great respect in which he was held, the bigotry of his enemies was sufficient to accomplish his death by stoning. But as man and martyr he was honored by the Christian community, and he has left us a heritage of his Christian judgment and counsel in the Epistle that bears his name.

Here in our lesson we study him as a great Christian leader. What were the marks of this man that made him a Christian leader?

First of all, he was a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ.
He had devoted his life supremely to a high ideal of faith and character and allegiance to the Master.

He had made his life strong through conquest, and he admonishes the early Christians not to be afraid of the testing that comes through life's trials and temptations, but to make occasion of these things to prove their faith and endurance.

Faith, he says, works patience, and patience in its perfect working produces the whole and perfect man.

The Rev. Gardiner C. Tucker on September 1, 1935, completed 50 years' service as rector of St.
John's Episcopal Church in Mobile, Ala.

Out of 2,540 Confederate soldiers from Marion County, S. C., who fought in the Civil War only three are alive today.

When Lieutenant Bligh visited Tahiti in 1788 Pomare was the leading chief.

James admonishes these early Christians if they lack wisdom turn to God as the source of wisdom; but their attitude, he says, must be one of determined quest.

They must not be like the waves of the sea, driven with the wind and tossed about. The Christian is a man of single-mindedness and stability of purpose.

The spirit of James is manifest in his advice concerning relationships in the early church. The privileges of the gospel lift the man of low degree to high estate, and the man of wealth and place must realize the obligations of love and service bring to him something far greater than his wealth, while at the same time they make him a lowly member of a great fellowship.
Rich and poor are alike under the law of love.

The strength of James and the value of his counsel are particularly manifest in his dealings with those faced with temptation.
Temptations, he makes it plain, do not come from God. But they are inevitable in the earthly life that man is leading.

There is that in man's own nature that responds to the allurements of evil from without, and James bids us be careful about these inner lusts and sins that would sweep us away in the storm of trial.

He pictures the Christian as living under the rich endowment of a gracious God who pours down from above good and perfect gifts.
With this Father of Lights there is no variation, neither shadow nor turning, and the man who persistently seeks God's guidance will inevitably find it.

Thank God for the Jameses who have been in the Christian church in every age—steady, trustworthy, sensible leaders, for whom practical religion has been more than theory, speculation, and controversy.

HORNED TOADS READY TO RACE

Unique Entertainment, Legion-Sponsored, Begins This Eve

The remarkable interest being shown in tonight's horned toad derby, floor show, carnival and dance to be at the Schuler hall, is pleasing to the Legion. There have been few community enterprises that have created as much interest among all classes as tonight's celebration. The race as a race is interesting. The fleetest horned toads procurable have been brought to Dixon and business houses and individuals have taken the trouble to enter these horned steeds.

That the judges will have blinding speed to tax their vision was recognized when it was reported that several of the sponsors have backed their entries in trial heats and that the world's record of five seconds had been broken.

They're Off
The old familiar cry of "They're Off!" will be heard again tonight with all the excitement of the followers of this sport of kings. The scene of the spectacle will become a bedlam of encouraging howls as well as derisive jibes and fervent prayers as the roar of the pistol sends the squat racers over the track to fame, fortune and fat red ants. And horned toads who have been training in various camps have been returned to headquarters and placed under lock and key to prevent any one from tampering or otherwise administering artificial stimulant. It is thought that the short period left before the race will put the finely trained racers on their toes so that when the starting gun is heard not one will be left sitting at the post.

How it is Done
The toads will be placed in a barrier surrounding a circle. At a given signal the barrier is broken and the toads are free to run across the finish tape, a distance of 25 feet.

CONSTIPATION LEADS TO FORTY SERIOUS AILMENTS

But Read How A New Medicine,
That Works With Your Food, Relieves Constipation by Natural Means. It Is Called Indo-Vin.

A new mixture of Medicinal Ingredients, has been found which has a natural action upon the bowels and stomach. It is not a cure-all, not a "patent medicine," but a scientific formula that works with the sufferer's food, known as Indo-Vin, now being introduced to the public daily here in Dixon at the Ford-Hopkins Drug Store.

WHAT INDO-VIN IS
It is a medicine of Nature's plants containing a combination of ingredients found in no other known formula. These ingredients mix with the food in one's stomach, aid in throwing off the poisons that foster stomach disorders and permit the liver and bowels to function properly. It will cleanse your bowels (gradually—not drastic or severe) as they were never cleansed before and tone them into better daily action.

It will work on those gases and impurities (frequently from the first dose) which may have been inside you for a long time. It will help remove poisons that have caused you many days of misery with headaches, dizzy spells, skin eruptions, foul breath, and rheumatic affliction.

Indo-Vin will clear your stomach and intestines of old gas, sourness, fermentation and other impure "matter" which often forms coating on the linings, frequently being the real cause of trouble with digestion.

Indo-Vin is now being introduced to the public daily here in Dixon at the Ford-Hopkins Drug Store. Also being sold in all the nearby towns, by every good druggist throughout this whole section.

Where Pair Clung on Death Brink

Trapped on narrow ledges 200 feet apart on the precipitous granite sides of Half Dome, shown here at the left towering 2300 feet above the floor of Yosemite national park, a man and a woman clung on desperately as 10 forest rangers attempted rescue. Miss Elizabeth Lorimer, 23, of Chicopee, Mass., and Robert Pate, 35, of Ingewood, Calif., lost their way when they tried to descend from the summit, lighting brush fires to summon aid. Rescue from below was impossible, so rangers carried ropes to lower themselves down the peak in the effort to save the pair.

Days Are Here Again, sung by Mrs. Helen Long.

COMPTON NEWS

By FAY EARCHER

COMPTON—It took eleven innings of good exciting baseball to settle Sunday's affair here at the local baseball park, when Manager Webber's team won over Maytown by a score of 5 to 4. Maytown earned three runs early in the game off from Herrman's pitching, with sufficient hits to earn four runs, before he was relieved by Bonucchi. Prestegard was sent to the mound when the game became too close for comfort in the sixth, and was able to more than hold his own against the sluggers from the opposition. With Compton leading 4 to 3 in the ninth, the scored was tied thusly—Schneider swung too lively at Prestegard offerings and took the count from Umpire Webber. Ogan singled to left, N. Freil was passed also Vickery with Negro coming to bat Prestegard pitched ball, with the result that the batter connected what looked to be a circuit clout, with Grove doing some fast fielding relayed to Archer at third, who in turn pegged home to Campbell to put out Vickery, with Freil scoring ahead of him for the tying run. The winning run was made by Campbell in the eleventh by his extraordinary efforts, when Prestegard pounded Bonucchi for a triple. This was evidently direct relief for the local fans that were near exhaustion from the tight baseball displayed by both sides throughout the game.

Next Sunday Ohio will play here in the final home league game of the season. After getting out of a tie for fifth place with Maytown Sunday, put Compton in another tie with Sublette for fourth in the Illinois State League.

DAILY HEALTH

'ONE MAN'S FOOD'

It is an old and well-warranted saying that "what's one man's food is another man's poison."

There apparently are certain groups of foods which, if not literally poisonous, commonly disagree with many persons.

An illuminating contribution on this subject has been made by Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, of the Mayo foundation. He set himself to the problem of determining which foods are difficult to digest or likely to cause distress, and which foods are most likely to cause gas, abdominal discomfort, heartburn, biliousness, regurgitation or hives.

He observes that surely, after thousands of years of cumulative experience, the physician should be able to answer these questions.

The difficulty is that "disagreement" is the result of the interplay of a number of factors, such as eating habits, food, food preparation, condiments, individual idiosyncrasies, and so on, so that, while the inquiring patient presumably sets all the blame on food, the fault may be elsewhere.

Another difficulty is that there are few standards by which to measure the factors which enter into digestion. Only the patient can, from experience, tell whether wheat or milk or cucumbers, for example, agree or disagree with him.

"The most intelligent observer," Dr. Alvarez points out, "can easily be deceived, and the patient may well be mistaken when he states his inability to eat some particular food. Often it was condemned unjustly and on insufficient evidence; perhaps the fish was blamed when really the culprit was the tartar sauce, the cottonseed oil in which

BELGIUM'S CHILDREN

WHEN Belgium sought a design for a stamp by which it could aid its poor children, no better subject could be found than that of the three children of King Leopold III. Their picture was placed on the stamp designed to aid the Royal Charity Society, in 1935.

Princess Josephine Charlotte, 7 is the oldest of the three. Next comes Crown Prince Baudoin, Prince of Brabant and heir to the throne. He is 5. The third child is Prince Albert, who was born on June 6, 1934.

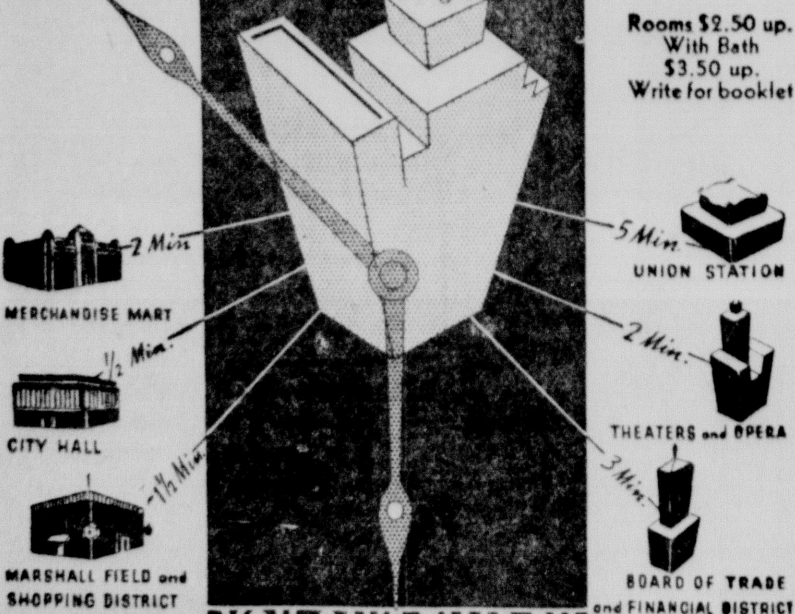

The queen mother who recently met death in an auto accident in Switzerland, was the beautiful Astrid, daughter of the King of Sweden's brother and descendant of Marshal Bernadotte, whom Napoleon made king of Sweden more than a century ago. She had wedded King Leopold III in 1926.

NEW DEAL LABOR LAW STUDIED BY LAWYERS' BOARD

Legal Experts Say Wagner Bill Violates the Constitution

Washington, Sept. 19—(AP)—The national lawyers committee of the American Liberty League went on record today with a declaration that the New Deal's labor relations act is "unconstitutional."

Quickly, a spokesman for the American Federation of Labor replied that the committee represented the views of "special privilege" and "big business."

Soon after Raoul E. Deservigne, chairman of the committee of 58 prominent lawyers, had made public the opinion that the Wagner collective bargaining law violates the federal charter, Frank E. Morrison, A. F. of L. secretary, said: "This committee simply represents the views held by special privilege and big business, which have always opposed every piece of legislation introduced in congress and the states to bring a little more happiness into workers' homes."

"It looks to me as if the lawyers committee has been organized for the purpose of making perhaps the last stand to delay and impede the legislation enacted to bring about conditions which would result in eliminating unemployment, benefitting labor and doing away with unfair competition."

To Analyze Other Laws
The lawyers committee, whose views were made public last night, plans to analyze other New Deal legislation. Its opinion of the Wagner act, which sets up a permanent labor board to prevent "unfair labor practices" and defines in law the right of self-organization and collective bargaining, was based on two main grounds.

The committee held that the act violated the constitutional guarantee that no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. It argued also that the law went beyond the powers the Constitution gives congress over interstate commerce.

The act's provision that representatives selected by a majority of employees shall have the right to bargain collectively for all employees was called "an illegal interference with the individual freedom of employees."

MONTGOMERY WARD

CO. SPORTSMEN MOVING TOWARD ORGANIZATION

First Steps Taken at a Meeting at Airport
Wednesday Eve

A group of sportsmen from various sections of Lee county attended a meeting at the Dixon Municipal airport hangar last evening and heard an interesting discourse on the immediate need for conservation of game in Illinois delivered by J. C. McConaha of Pontiac, organizer for the Illinois Department of Conservation. Mr. McConaha spent yesterday in Dixon and vicinity with Conservation Inspector Charles Duis, visiting the fish hatchery in Green river south of Amboy, the Dixon state hospital, Lowell park and the White Pines state park.

The divorce of the conservation department from politics is being attempted by Chairman Thompson who heads the department.

When the Department of Conservation is taken entirely out of politics, then and then only, will Illinois rank with four other leading states of the Union in the conservation program. Such a separation can be accomplished only through the organization of sportsmen who will make such a demand. Conservation cannot succeed until it is taken out of politics and while we await this organized program, our supply of game is continually diminishing," the speaker said.

Duis Commended
Chairman Thompson, he added, had outlined his program of conservation in Illinois with the purpose of eliminating politics and had been fairly successful in his efforts. The speaker also commended the services of Conservation Inspector Charles Duis of Lee county, who, he stated, was one of the most active and efficient officers in the state.

Of the conservation program, McConaha said:

"The people of Lee county and throughout Illinois are interested in the conservation of upland game and migratory birds. I am taking this opportunity of informing you that the conservation program in Illinois at this time is down to the point of breeding stock. To increase both upland game and migratory birds, organized effort is necessary. Sportsmanship and conservation are a necessity.

"In the program being outlined, the farmer is not only invited but urged to associate himself with the organization. In the past sportsmen's organizations have shunned the farmer to some extent. He was welcome if he cared to join, but was not encouraged. We consider the farmer the most important spoke in the wheel of conservation, either to hunt or fish is another important spoke. The sale of hunting and fishing licenses maintains the conservation department solely; maintains our seven large fish hatcheries and our five game farms; pays the salaries of the game warden throughout the state and the expenses of the department.

Congratulated Amboy
"At this point in my remarks, I wish to congratulate the sportsmen of Amboy for the fine fish hatchery which they have built and maintained in Green river. This has been done entirely by the sportsmen of that vicinity who raised the funds, donated the labor and materials and have accomplished a great conservation duty.

Geraldine Makes
New 'Comeback'

Evidently travel, instead of a Connecticut garden, supplies Geraldine Farrar with the "delicious sense of soul freedom" in quest of which, 13 years ago, the spectacular prima donna triumphantly quit the opera stage. Hale and happy, Miss Farrar is pictured above in New York on her arrival from her annual vacation in Germany.

I visited this hatchery today and will most certainly recommend assistance from the state department in its continued operation.

"There is also an important place for women in your county conservation program. Their influence in enforcement and observation of the codes and law is very instrumental in the rearing of our future hunters and fishermen. They are showing an intense interest in the program. Another agency is the 4-H clubs, which have included conservation in their program. It is necessary that the conservation work be spread throughout Lee county and every county in Illinois. I strongly urge the elimination of a long standing misunderstanding between the farmer and the hunter, who must cooperate in this program.

Most Birds Starve
"The hunters of Illinois take only about ten per cent of our game today. Cats, crows and foxes take about 20 per cent and 70 per cent of our upland birds are taken by starvation and exposure. This fact should interest every sportsman and bird lover. Game requires the same protection as human beings, food, shelter and protection from enemies. Unless we provide some relief from these enemies, principally starvation, the present supply of quail, which is down to breeding stock, will be gone.

"To provide food, we are urging cooperation with farm bureaus and other agencies to prevail upon the farmers to plant seed lots. The seed, which is a combination of eight different seeds forms a mixture which grows rapidly. It can be supplied by the local chapter to the farmer. School children in the rural schools may also become interested and engage in this most worthy program of saving not only the quail but the song birds as well.

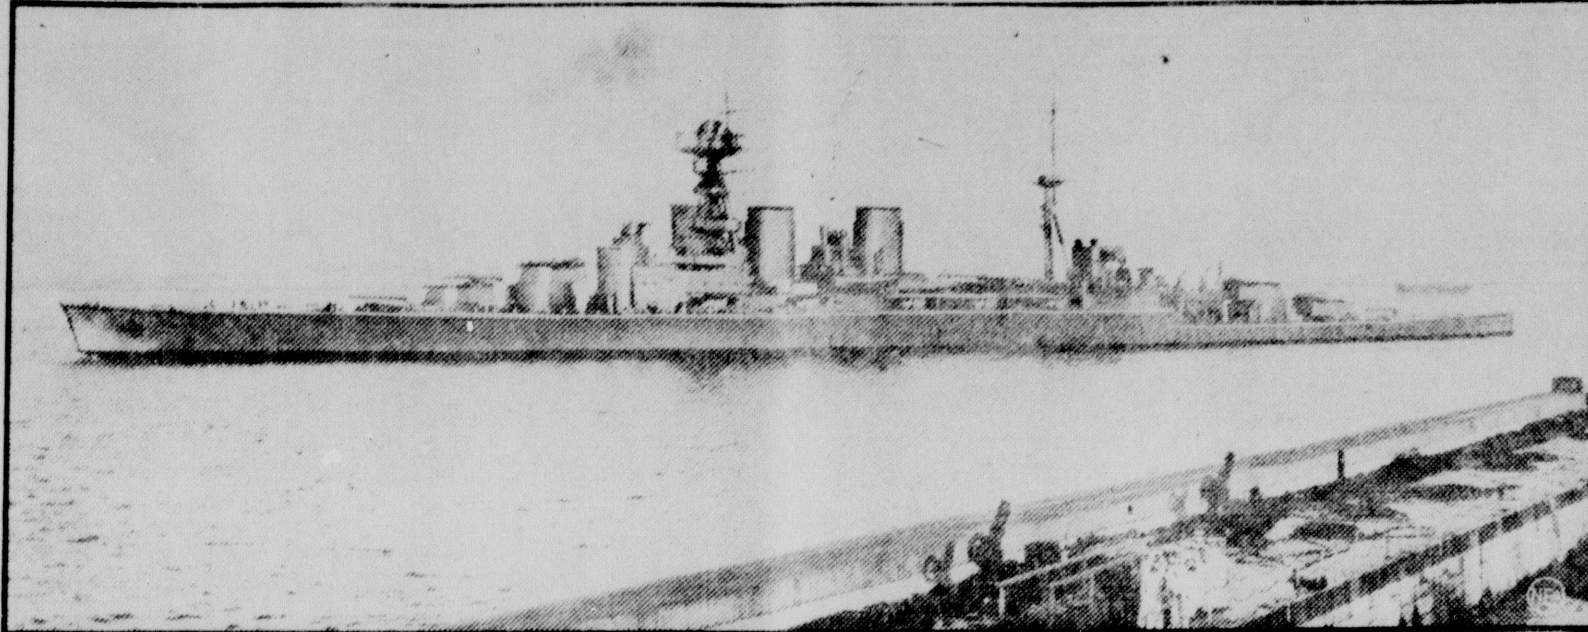

"Referring to the enemies of our upland game and migratory fowl, we first consider the crow the greatest enemy of all bird life. It has been found that the crow now follows the ducks into Canada to destroy its eggs and nests and annually is the cause for the loss of thousands of migratory fowl. We strongly urge and recommend crow hunts and where possible, the payment of a bounty on crows by the boards of supervisors of the counties.

Stray Cats Enemies
"Stray cats are another enemy of all bird life. City residents place cats in a bag, haul them out into the country and dump them near a farm house. Farmers have been known to place unwelcome litters of cats in a bag, haul them to town and dump them, an unsatisfactory change. While the cats are in the sack, the mouth of the sack could be tied over the muffler of the automobile, the motor started and in two minutes the cats could be suffocated painlessly and then buried, and the bird life would not be disturbed.

BRITISH RUSH WORLD'S LARGEST WARSHIP TO GIBRALTAR

Mystery veiling movements of the British fleet, as war clouds thickened over Europe, was dispelled when a score of British fighting ships, headed by the Hood, world's largest warship, arrived at Gibraltar. As the British squadron reached the Mediterranean entrance, Mussolini ordered Italian naval forces split, one division taking up a strategic position in the Mediterranean. The Hood, shown here as it appeared on a previous visit to Gibraltar, is a "one-vessel navy," of 46,200 tons with full load, carrying 1341 officers and crew. Costing $30,000,000, it mounts eight 15-inch and 12 5.5-inch guns, 27 smaller guns, and six torpedo tubes. It is designed for 31 knots and can make 32 even in bad weather.

Alois Senefelder (1771-1834), who invented lithography, was a Bavarian actor and dramatist.

"Foxes, we have found in Illinois, have been on a tremendous increase in the past ten years. We do not want to entirely eliminate the fox in Illinois, but to reduce the population and bring about a balance. The fox is another great enemy of our upland game.

"We encourage the posting of a standard sign on farms, which reads, 'no hunting without permission,' special deputy sheriff's being appointed to be active only in the conservation program and protection of the farmers against trespassing."

The purpose of the meeting was to form a Lee county conservation organization to later form similar branches in each of the townships of the county, the purpose being to engage in the conservation program, recommended by the state department, in the propagation and preservation of bird life in Lee county. Another meeting is to be held in the near future, when such an organization will be launched.

CUBS EQUAL SUCCESSIVE WIN RECORD

Brooklyn Won 15
Straight in Year
1924

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The pennant-hungry Cubs have gobbled up another record on their way toward the National league title, just about wrecking the hopes of the Giants.

The Cubs routed the Giants 15 to 3 yesterday for their 15th straight triumph, holding their 2½-game margin over the second-place Cardinals and putting the Giants 6½ games to the rear.

The victory gave them not only the longest winning streak in either circuit this season but the longest in the National league since Brooklyn hit the 15-mark in 1924.

Charley Grimm's clouting crew looked good enough to go on almost indefinitely without a loss. Trailing 1-2 as they came to bat in the fourth inning they battered Cydell Castleman and Harry Gumbert for eight runs in the one frame and sewed up the game.

Charley Root, who pitched steadily all the way, whiffed three Giants in the fifth. In the next frame the Cubs made three straight errors to load the bases, but Root retired the side without a run.

Crowd of 33,000 Out
With a crowd of 33,000 out yesterday and more than 90,000 for the three games of the series, the Cubs looked forward to another big afternoon today in the windup of the important struggle.

With another win Chicago would need only four more victories in seven starts to keep the Giants out of the struggle. Bill Lee was the nominee to pitch, while Carl Hubbell was expected to oppose him.

The Cards, with eleven games to go against Chicago's eight, came from behind to trim the Dodgers 6 to 3. A bad sixth inning put Bill McLaughlin in the hole as Pepper Martin, subbing in the outfield for the injured Terry Moore, contributed an error to a two-run Dodger rally.

But the Cards smashed back with four straight hits off Tom Zachary and Bobby Reis to take the lead in the seventh and win behind Paul Dean's relief flinging.

Yankees Beat Browns
In the American league, the Yankees delayed the final settlement a little longer by breaking even with the Browns in a double header while the Tigers dropped a 4-3 decision to the Red Sox.

A five-run rally in the eighth gave St. Louis a 7 to 4 triumph in the opener but the Yankees came back behind Johnny Broaca to win 6 to 3. Wes Ferrell's ninth inning pinch hit off Schoolboy Rowe was the wallop that beat Detroit.

These three games left the Tigers eight games ahead with ten games to go for them and eleven for the Yankees.

The Cleveland Indians walloped the Athletics 10 to 5 and 10 to 0 with Mel Mader pitching four-hit ball in the second for his 20th victory.

The Senators beat the White Sox 4 to 3 and 3 to 1. The opener was won in the last inning.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati won single games in the National league, the Pirates beating the Braves 5 to 0.

Dungey, Karben, Stunkle Among Luminaries Here Friday for Ring Bout

Bloomington Men are Tough Rivals for Dixon

Boxing, besides its national flavor in the Max Baer-Joe Louis bout next week, assumes a decidedly local flavor at the airport hangar tomorrow night when Bloomington's fast team meets the Dixon A. C. glovers.

Featuring the attractive card which will draw bigger crowds than ever is a five round encounter between George Dungey, thrice Golden Glove champion at Peoria and Bloomington, and Louis Viscioni, a Moline battler who though unpopular at first is gradually increasing his prestige here at the expense of the toughest opposition slated to meet him.

Stunkle Boys Again
In a second five rounder, Bernard Stunkle will again be seen in action. The remaining bouts are three round affairs but all will be fast. They match Sam Karben against Clete Hensley, Maurice Stunkle against William Pol, Stanley Stanich versus Billy LeHue and Killer Hess against Tom Sutherland. Maurice Stunkle has not been in the ring here for nearly a month and his appearance will satisfy the curious as to his condition during the interim. Billy LeHue, Tampico's bomber, knocked Killer Hess silly a few weeks ago and is favored to show Stanley Stanich the door—or the floor, tomorrow night. Killer will be back, but is on LeHue's side this time. His style is being changed by a new trainer it is said and the Killer's clubbing right punch is being developed along different lines.

Karben boasts a strong and a long record of victories. He is perhaps the master artist at feinting. He leaps in like a fork of lightning and then fades out of the way before his opponent can retaliate. More opponents of Karben's have flayed the atmosphere in dismay than any other opposition according to a Dixon A. C. boxer here.

POLO ELEVEN IS AGAIN DIXON'S PRACTICE FOE

Varsity and Second String Capture
3 Touchdowns

Another scrimmage was held with the Polo high school team on the high school field here Wednesday afternoon, both the varsity and second string Dixon high school gridders facing the Ogle county team.

The varsity began the struggle, capturing a touchdown on an end run as the result of a triple pass which gave Shires Miller the ball, shortly after the scrimmage began. The second Dixon touchdown resulted from a blocked Polo punt, the locals falling on the ball behind the Polo goal line. After the heavyweights scrimmaged about twenty minutes keeping the ball well in Polo territory, the lightweights took up the burden and continued to press the enemy shoving over a third touchdown.

Punting by both of Dixon's teams was especially commendable. The punts were long and accurately placed in the end zones. Forward passes were somewhat improved but still raggedly executed. Polo though heavily outweighed offered stubborn resistance to the thrusts of Dixon's heavy line. Offensively Polo did well enough in line play but their punting was generally off color. Polo's best efforts were spectacular returns of kickoffs and punts, and sweeping end runs.

TERRY CLAIMS CUBS WILL BE IN BIG SERIES

He Says They're Hot
And Will Keep Up
The Pace

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Bill Terry, manager of the vanquished Giants, favors the Cubs to conquer the Cardinals in the final furious stretch drive for the National league championship.

He can see nothing but the Cubs playing the Detroit Tigers in the world series.

The leader of the Giants made this prediction today as his playing faced the Cubs in the final and fourth game of a series, in which they have been beaten three straight games.

Asked his choice between the Cubs and the Cardinals, Terry replied: "Why, the Cubs the way they are going. They are playing way over their heads. They are 'hot' right now just like the Cardinals were last year. Everything they do turns out in their favor. It's just one of those things nobody can explain."

With this off his chest and with a big black cigar stuck in his mouth, Terry sauntered down the steps of the club house looking as though he had lost his last friend.

Giants Morale Low.

After their third straight defeat, which dropped them six and one half games behind the pace setting Cubs, the Giants are the most down trodden group of athletes in existence. They were sullen, irritable and inclined to do no talking even among themselves. Terry was the last to leave the clubhouse and he was in no spirit to talk.

The Cubs walloped the Giants in ten of their last eleven games, and yesterday's brutal 15 to 3 lacing, the worst of the season, was enough to give them the jitters.

Supremely Confident.
Having tied the National league's best winning streak in the last 11 years, Brooklyn's 15 in a row in 1924, the Cubs were supremely confident of walloping the Giants again today and then tearing after Pittsburgh in the final two games of the year at Wrigley Field, Saturday and Sunday.

Catcher "Gabby" Hartnett, 34-year-old sparkplug of the Cubs' defense, figures that if the Cubs can invade St. Louis with a lead of one and one-half games and then beat the Cardinals just once, it will be all over for the Gas House Gang. They play a five-game series.

"Those guys are worried now," Hartnett yelled. "They're wondering if we are ever going to lose a game. I'll bet the Cardinals go daffy every time they see another victory posted for the Cubs."

DO YOU REMEMBER?

One Year Ago Today.—The Cardinals increased their lead over the Cubs by four games as they defeated Cincinnati, 6-3, in New York.

Five Years Ago Today.—West Virginia won a night football game from Duquesne, 7-0, at Pittsburgh.

Ten Years Ago Today.—The Pirates needed four victories to win the National league pennant, and the Senators needed six to annex the American league bunting.

The sun is a dwarf star although it has a mass amounting to about 332,000 times that of the earth. The sun's diameter is about 864,000 miles, or 110 times that of the earth. Its average density is only one-fourth that of the earth. Gravity is so great there that an ordinary man would weigh two tons.

Rare Beauty Even in Ditch Digging

Beauty as well as utility enters into Uncle Sam's great construction projects. Of rare loveliness is this scene, the long arm of an excavator etched against the sunrise sky as it swings its scoop filled with 12 cubic yards of sand to the bank of America's largest irrigation ditch, the All-American canal. This $33,000,000 project has been launched to safeguard the water supply of the Imperial Valley in California and Arizona from diversion to Mexico water to be turned into the ditch from Boulder Dam.

Rice for Newlywed Perrys

It isn't often that Fred Perry, world's No. 1 tennis amateur, can't give as good as is sent, but not having a pocket full of rice, he couldn't return his friends' volley of rice as he and his glamorous film star bride, Helen Vinson, left New York on their honeymoon. He's ducking, but the shower doesn't seem to go against Mrs. Perry's grain.

The BLUE DOOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

RUTH WOODSON, pretty, high-spirited girl of 19, in search of work, seeks refuge from a storm in an old stone house with a blue door in the little town of Worthville. The queer old caretaker, BERTHA GIBBS, also known as PENNY, mistakes her for ELAINE CHALMERS, whose grandfather built the house.

Ruth, needing shelter and falling in love with the young man next door, JOHN McNEILL, decides to stay on for a time, pretending to be Elaine. Elaine, meanwhile, at Graceland College, vows in a sorority meeting to win the love of John McNeill, her childhood hero, and plans to go to Worthville.

A man known as JOHN SMITH escapes from an asylum, buys a used-car and starts for Worthville.

Penny seems happy to have Ruth in the house until one night when she is summoned to the front door by a knock. After that she is furtive and hostile and mysterious in her actions.

John McNeill has fallen in love with Ruth, whom he calls "Elaine." Ruth cleans the library of the old house and notices that a set of books has mysteriously disappeared. That night she hears some one padding the floor over her head, decides it is Penny, and falls asleep.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVIII

IN the week that followed, Ruth and John McNeill were together more than anyone realized—except Bertha Gibbs. She encouraged the drives they took either before or after the evening meal.

On the day after John's return they went to Cleveland to see the opening of a New York play, starring the Luntz. Ruth wore the shell-pink velvet dress beneath the fox-trimmed evening coat and wondered if she were overly dressed or rushing the season. It appeared that she was not.

John was satisfactorily impressed. "You're stunning!" he told her, looking across the table in frank appraisal. "Did you send for all these clothes you've been wearing lately? You came without baggage, if I remember rightly."

"You had a bunch of parcels." Ruth said steadily. "I didn't have to send for anything. And for the funniest reason! Last spring my family sent a box for Saint Stephens' rummage sale and it got here too late. Penny dragged it up to the store room and it's been there ever since. We opened it after I came and it was stocked with fall and winter clothes from last season."

John said, "A girl who's crazy enough to come off without her clothes doesn't deserve a break like that."

"No," answered Ruth humbly. "she doesn't. I haven't deserved any of the breaks of this visit. John, finding you next door, for instance. Liking you—"

"Just—liking me, Elaine?"

SHE replied, making patterns on the table cloth with one finger. "Sometimes I write things I'm too inhibited to say. When I go away, maybe I'll leave a letter for you—"

"I don't like the sound of that," he replied, shaking his head and staring at the glowing tip of his cigarette. "It sounds like you're planning a dismissal for me. When is this to happen? Any definite time set?"

"No definite time," she answered, not looking at him.

Her face must have registered some of the turmoil of her thoughts, for John said quickly,

"No serious thinking permitted tonight! I ask as well as I do?" "Order it," Ruth told him. "I'll show you. Do you happen to notice how I've put on weight since I've been here?"

"I've noticed," he replied. "You look a hundred per cent better. Don't ever carry dieting to that extreme again, Elaine! Will you promise me that?"

She saw that he was in earnest. She wanted to promise him, but how could she know what the future might hold for her in the shape of meal tickets? She compromised by saying, "I believe I've learned my lesson. I can see what rest and regular meals have done for me. I believe I'm fit for anything that's ahead of me now."

Ruth had never seen a play by famous professionals, but no one would have suspected it as she sat beside John McNeill and studied her program with quiet poise. He liked her silences. He had always hated chattering girls who talked nervously with a horror of pause.

However, on the ride home after the play, not even John talked. Ruth, exhausted by excitement and by the strain of being a fairy princess for an entire evening, slept soundly, her head against his shoulder, her breathing as soft and regular as a child's.

WHEN she accepted John's invitation to go dancing with him, Ruth knew she had added one more reckless link to the chain of folly she was forging. She also knew that she was glad.

It was two days after the theater party that he asked her. He said, "There's a dinner dance at the Country Club tonight. Or we could go slumming—to one of the decent roadhouses, I mean. Or we could go to Cleveland. It doesn't matter to me where we go. Just so we dance."

Ruth replied quickly, "Not the Country Club, John! I don't want to see a lot of people I'm expected to remember—and don't!"

"All right," he said. "So much the better. If I took you to a local dance I'd play stage all evening. Now I know a place called the Allegheny Cabin that's 60 miles from here toward the mountains, but worth the drive. It's run by a couple of people from Maryland—down-and-out gentry—who specialize on good food and a good orchestra. There's the right patronage. No rough stuff. A beautiful log lodge overlooking a water gap. Hangs over the river. Two big fireplaces. Maryland fried chicken—"

Ruth said, "Are you a paid press agent for this paradise, or just feeling lyrical? Anyway, I'm sold. What time shall I be ready?"

"We'd better allow an hour and a half," he calculated, "on account of the curves. I'll phone for 7 o'clock reservations. Let's leave here about 5:30. Do you think Bertha will object?"

Ruth shook her head and laughed. "It's not very flattering to me, but her one idea seems to be to get me out of the house. What must I wear, John?"

He said, "It's one of those places where anything goes. I won't dress. Won't have time."

But you wear anything your little heart desires."

Her little heart desired to wear the lace dinner dress. Yearned to wear it. After her bath she argued with herself about it: "John's not dressing. The correct thing for me to wear would be one of the knit dresses—or the navy blue satin. But he's never seen me in all of them. He's never seen me in the lace. If I don't wear it tonight, he never will."

... If I don't wear it I'll always wish I had. It might get to be a suppressed desire with me and turn me into a criminal or something! I'll wear it—"

WHEN she had put it on she was not sorry. Its cream-tan color flattered her brown eyes and hair. Its little round collar was young and demure.

John was late. It was after 6 when he called for her, breathless and apologetic for having been detained at the factory. "I'm not a play boy," he told her. "Business has to come first. Well, we'll step on it. The first 40 miles is pretty straight road."

It was this part of the road that proved their undoing. About 20 miles from Worthville, doing a careful 60 miles an hour, John's car was overhauled by a police motorcycle that had been loitering in a side road. There was no argument.

"John McNeill, Worthville," snapped John, giving the information with some chagrin and irritation. "Yes, I was doing 60. What of it? The road's clear. Got to get to dinner, haven't we?"

The callous one said, "It's nothin' to this township if you never eat." Ruth watched his pencil move, fascinated. She could see car in motion. About 15 miles later he said with a challenging smile to the girl beside him, "He wasn't interested in your alias, was he?"

Ruth felt tears stinging her eyelids in the darkness. She had supposed the officer would ask her name in just a moment and that John would be compelled to say, "Elaine Chalmers!" She was responsible for that name. She had borrowed it, and she must leave it as bright and shining as she had found it. But John would never know the reason for her lie. No doubt he thought it petty, cowardly in her to have spoken out like that. Well, no matter now. She blinked back the tears and laughed a bit hysterically. "Just protecting my good name. Wasn't it crafty of me?"

"Yes," he answered. "Ruth Woodson. Sort of cute, honey."

"It's my favorite alias," she said. Then, "I can't do the new dance steps. Do you mind?"

"Angeli!" he replied. "You're saying that because you know I can't do them!" She was happy again.

GEOLOGY FIELD TRIP ARRANGED

Teachers Will Be Conducted on the Survey

Teachers, and others interested in natural science, will be given the opportunity of securing accurate information on the geology and geologic history of northwestern Illinois when the Illinois state geological survey inaugurates its fall series of earth history field conferences by holding an all-day study trip in Stephenson county, on Saturday.

Meeting at Freeport high school at 9:00 A. M. on the day of the conference, the field trip group will be led by J. M. Weiler and Don L. Carroll, of the geological survey staff, who have planned a tour that will include lecture stops at ten localities that best show the records of sea invasions, bedrock conditions, erosion of the earth's crust, and the work of the glaciers that covered the region during the Great Ice Age, thousands of years ago. One of the high spots of the tour will be a visit to a fossil collecting ledge near the village of Wadham.

The field trip group is being organized by C. S. Chappellear, supt. of schools at Galena. Mr. Chappellear was elected district chairman following a similar trip held last year in the Savanna region. Any one is eligible to attend the Freeport field conference, he states. He requests participants to supply their own transportation, to provide themselves with packed lunches and to meet the rest of the group at Freeport high school no later than 9:00 A. M. on the day of the excursion. Based on the past attendance records, it is expected that at least 200 people will take part in the study outing.
